

OUR PHILOSOPHY

We are in the business of Revitalizing Education. Experiential Development is our formula.

As human beings, we all live in two worlds. There is a world around us- the world of objects, events, places and other people. And there is a world within us- built of our beliefs, choices and perceptions. We only know the world around us through the world within us.

At EdQuest, we understand that all children are unique individuals with their own aspirations, passions, strengths, talents and values. It is therefore, essential that they have opportunities to explore the range of their abilities and strengths and find the right tools to express themselves, creatively.

We believe an experience-led approach is absolutely fundamental to learning where children can indulge in their imagination, experiment with a range of ideas and push the boundaries of relevance- empowering them to be lifelong learners who take ownership of their education.

“A MIND THAT IS STRETCHED BY A NEW EXPERIENCE CAN NEVER GO BACK TO ITS OLD DIMENSIONS.”

— Oliver Wendell Holmes

OUR APPROACH

At EdQuest, we believe in cultivating a conducive environment to nurture your child's innate appetite to explore and forge the capacity to learn.

We nurture in children the ability to ask the right questions, explore unprecedented possibilities and exercise their powers of creativity and imagination. By guiding their curiosity, we encourage them to develop fresh perspectives, discover their passions & strengths and understand their personal values.

We enable children to learn as a group, spark expression to communicate effectively, constructively help others develop and foster a positive social behaviour.

By guiding through a process of experiential development, we cultivate the approach and attitude that will enable your children to pursue the things they want to be great at, thrive in real-world challenges and surmount complexity.
